Abstract (English)

Digital addiction, particularly social media overuse, is one of the most pressing challenges facing modern society. With the proliferation of smartphones, tablets, and internet connectivity, individuals, especially youth, are spending increasing amounts of time on social media platforms such as Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, and Twitter. While these platforms provide communication, entertainment, and information access, excessive use can lead to negative effects on mental health, productivity, and social interactions.

Research shows that digital addiction can contribute to anxiety, depression, stress, sleep disorders, and reduced attention spans. Many individuals develop compulsive habits, checking notifications constantly and struggling to disengage from online activities. Productivity declines as excessive scrolling consumes time meant for work, study, or personal development. Social relationships may weaken, and individuals may experience emotional dependency on digital devices.

Addressing this challenge requires multifaceted solutions. Awareness campaigns and education about healthy digital habits can help users recognize and manage overuse. Digital wellness tools, such as app timers and usage monitors, encourage responsible engagement with technology. Communities and schools can promote offline activities, hobbies, and social interactions, reducing reliance on screens. Governments and tech companies also play a role by designing less addictive platforms and supporting policies that protect mental health.

The presentation emphasizes that digital addiction is not an individual problem alone but a societal issue requiring collective action. By combining education, technological tools, policies, and personal responsibility, modern societies can mitigate the harmful effects of social media overuse. Encouraging balanced usage ensures that technology enhances rather than diminishes productivity, mental health, and human connection.

Muhtasari (Kiswahili)

Uwezekano wa uraibu wa kidijitali, hasa matumizi kupita kiasi ya mitandao ya kijamii, ni changamoto kubwa kwa jamii ya kisasa. Kwa kuenea kwa simu za mkononi, kompyuta ndogo, na mtandao wa intaneti, watu, hasa vijana, wanatumia muda mwingi sana kwenye mitandao kama Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, na Twitter. Ingawa mitandao hii inatoa mawasiliano, burudani, na taarifa, matumizi kupita kiasi husababisha athari mbaya kwa afya ya akili, uzalishaji kazi, na mahusiano ya kijamii.

Utafiti unaonyesha kuwa uraibu wa kidijitali unaweza kusababisha wasiwasi, mfadhaiko, unyogovu, matatizo ya usingizi, na kupoteza umakini. Zana za ustawi wa kidijitali, kama vipima muda na programu za kufuatilia matumizi, zinaweza kukuza ushirikiano wa uwajibikaji. Shule na jamii pia zinaweza kuhimiza shughuli zisizo za kidijitali, michezo, na mahusiano ya ana kwa ana. Serikali na makampuni ya teknolojia pia yanahitajika kubuni majukwaa yasiyo ya uraibu na kuunga mkono sera zinazolinda afya ya akili.

Uwasilishaji huu unaonyesha kuwa uraibu wa kidijitali sio tatizo la mtu mmoja pekee, bali ni changamoto ya kijamii. Kwa kuunganisha elimu, zana za teknolojia, sera, na uwajibikaji binafsi, jamii ya kisasa inaweza kupunguza madhara ya matumizi kupita kiasi ya mitandao ya kijamii. Kutumia teknolojia kwa uwiano kunahakikisha kwamba inachangia badala ya kupunguza afya ya akili, uzalishaji, na mahusiano ya binadamu.
